April 2021

1 Major Changes

Nothing particularly major, still working on adding the features to dafny. All around have not been able to make the progress I would have liked since the last meeting. As a result I have documented a plan of action for the next few weeks until the meeting of the minds.

2 Looking Ahead

At this point there is exactly one month until the meeting of the minds conference, and I wanted to make sure that I had a road map to plan out my time ahead.

2.1 By Monday April 19th

One week from now I would like to have finished with the smaller additions to dafny that will give me a better familiarity with the things I will be adding in the future. I would also like to have a rough draft of what I want to go on my meeting of the minds poster. The poster will need to be a very rough draft, but I believe starting this early is a necessity.

2.2 By Monday April 26th

Now I would like to have made significant progress into the main addition to dafny, and have talked thoroughly with my group about what the impacts of this change will be. Though I may not be finished completely I would like to have finalized my draft of the poster for the meeting of the minds by now. Hopefully there will be nothing which surprises me that I will need to add after this point.

2.3 By Monday May 3rd

With just over a week to go I would like to have completed all work on revising dafny, if not fully then at least enough to finish in the next few days. At this point I would like to transition into the effects of the additional features have on the research the group is able to do. Here would be the point for possible surprises and additions to my poster. Additionally the main focus of my work at this point will be on the poster.

2.4 By Monday May 10th

At this point everything should be done. Two days until the meeting of the minds, only small changes and fixes should be added to the poster. prepare what I am going to say and think of different questions people could have and the best ways to respond.
